BISBEE MINER IS LEFT TO STARVE

Abandoned by Prospective Buyers Near Mines; Another Narrow Escape.

Bisbee, Ariz., Sept. 29.—Abandoned by two prospective buyers of his property in the Moctezuma mountains, Sonora, without food or money, Domenico Gregoraci, an Italian miner of Bisbee, was heard of by some of his countrymen to whom he appealed for help. Gregoraci was obliged to walk from his property to the Pilares mines, a distance of over 15 miles, through a rough country, and when he reached that mining camp was exhausted, having tasted neither food nor water for nearly two days and one night. Assistance was given him at a miners' boarding house and later he was allowed to board a freight going to Douglas, from which place he communicated with his friends.

A party of four, composed of T. B. Reed and P. Meenan and Misses Williams and Callahan, were caught by the storm last Sunday in the Huachuca mountains. They had a very rough experience and at one time were entirely surrounded by streams of water rushing down the canyon and ran the risk of losing their lives. After an exciting all night drive they reached Hereford in safety.
